BILL

To regulate public procurement; to prescribe a framework within which preferential procurement must be implemented; and to provide for matters connected therewith.

PREAMBLE

WHEREAS section 217(1) of the Constitution of the Republic of South Africa, 1996, stipulates that contracting of goods and services by organs of state in the national, provincial sphere of government, and other institutions identified in national legislation, must occur in accordance with a system which is fair, equitable, transparent, competitive and cost-effective;

AND WHEREAS section 217(2) of the Constitution permits organs of state and the identified other institutions, to implement a procurement policy providing for categories of preference in the allocation of contracts and the protection or advancement of persons disadvantaged by unfair discrimination within a framework prescribed by national legislation;

AND WHEREAS section 216(1) of the Constitution requires national legislation to prescribe measures to ensure both transparency and expenditure control in each sphere of government by introducing, among others, uniform treasury norms and standards;

AND WHEREAS section 195(1) and (3) of the Constitution provides that national legislation must among others ensure the promotion in public administration of the following principles:

- A high standard of professional ethics;
- efficient, economic and effective use of resources; and
- development-oriented, accountability and transparency;

AND WHILE RECOGNISING the need to increase the capacity of organs of state to provide goods and services they require, procurement of goods and services from persons outside the State, where necessary, must be regulated;

AND RECOGNISING that legislation regulating procurement by organs of state is fragmented and legislation regulating preferential procurement constrains justified advancement of persons or categories of persons;

AND IN ORDER TO create a single framework that regulates public procurement, including preferential procurement, by all organs of state, which among others—

- promotes the use of technology for efficiency and effectiveness; and
- enhances transparency and integrity, among others, to combat corruption,

BE IT THEREFORE ENACTED by Parliament of the Republic of South Africa , as follows:—

MEMORANDUM ON OBJECTS OF PUBLIC PROCUREMENT BILL, 2023

1. PURPOSE OF BILL

The aim of the Bill is to regulate public procurement and to prescribe a framework within which preferential procurement must be implemented.

2. BACKGROUND

2.1 Section 195 of the Constitution of the Republic of South Africa, 1996 (“the Constitution”) requires that national legislation must, among others, ensure the promotion in public administration of the following principles:

- (a) A high standard of professional ethics;
- (b) efficient, economic and effective use of resources; and
- (c) development-oriented, accountability and transparency.

2.2 In terms of section 216(1) of the Constitution, national legislation must prescribe measures to ensure both transparency and expenditure control in each sphere of government by introducing, among others, uniform treasury norms and standards.

2.3 Section 217(1) of the Constitution stipulates that, procurement by organs of state and identified institutions, must occur in accordance with a system which is fair, equitable, transparent, competitive and cost-effective.

2.4 The Constitution in section 217(2) allows for organs of state to implement a procurement policy providing for categories of preference in the allocation of contracts and the protection or advancement of persons disadvantaged by unfair discrimination. Section 217(3) of the Constitution requires national legislation to prescribe a framework within which the procurement policy must be implemented. The Preferential Procurement Policy Framework Act, 2000 (Act No. 5 of 2000), was enacted for this purpose.

2.5 The public procurement regime in South Africa is currently fragmented as there are a number of laws which regulate procurement across the public administration. This fragmentation results in confusion as different procurement rules apply. Some of these laws pre-date the constitutional order brought about in 1994.

2.6 It is important and necessary, considering the history of South Africa and the developments since the coming into operation of the Constitution, to have legislation which creates a single framework regulating procurement, in line with all applicable stipulations of the Constitution and which contributes to address the economic and social challenges of South Africa.

3. OVERVIEW OF BILL

The Bill aims to create a single regulatory framework for public procurement and eliminate fragmentation in laws which deal with procurement in the public sector and, among others, provide for—

- the establishment of a Public Procurement Office within the National Treasury and its functions;
- the functions of provincial treasuries;
- the functions of procuring institutions;
- measures pertaining to the integrity of the procurement process;
- preferential procurement framework;
- general procurement requirements;

broader than that for determining legislative competence. Whether a Bill is a section 76 Bill is determined in two ways. First, by the explicit list of legislative matters in section 76(3), and second, by whether the provisions of a Bill in substantial measure fall within a concurrent legislative competence.
